Cry Out:

The Earth Is Young!

I would like to personally thank you for watching the Origins program. Origins was a special program, near to the heart of my late husband, Russell Bixler.

I trust that the information in this presentation will be helpful in your study of creation science. Thank you for your prayerful and financial support of Origins... you're making the television production of this program possible.

Early 19th Century Views of Earth History

Biblical view (Scriptural geologists)

Catastrophist view (e.g., Cuvier, Smith)

Uniformitarian view (e.g., Werner, Hutton, Lyell)

“My excuse for this lengthy and amateur digression into history is that I have been trying to show how I think geology got into the hands of the theoreticians who were conditioned by the social and political history of their day more than by observations in the field . . .

In other words, we have allowed ourselves to be brain-washed into avoiding any interpretation of the past that involves extreme and what might be termed ‘catastrophic’ processes.”

Derek Ager, The Nature of the Stratigraphical Record (London: Macmillan, 1981), p. 46-47.

The Great Scablands Debate

“The ‘establishment,’ as represented by the United States Geological Society, closed ranks in opposition . . . Instead of testing Bretz’s flood on its own merits, they rejected it on general principles . . .”

“Bretz stood against a firm, highly restrictive dogma that never had made any sense: the emperor had been naked for a century. Charles Lyell, the godfather of geologic gradualism, had pulled a fast one in establishing the doctrine of imperceptible change.”

Stephen Jay Gould, “The Great Scablands Debate,”
Natural History, Vol. 87:7 (Aug./Sept. 1978), pp. 12, 14.

“Fossilization is a process that can take anything from a few hours to millions of years ...

The amount of time that it takes for a bone to become completely permineralized is highly variable. If the groundwater is heavily laden with minerals in solution, the process can happen rapidly. Modern bones that fall into mineral springs can become permineralized within a matter of weeks.”

How the rocks form in the mud banks

1. Plants and animals die and their remains are trapped in the mud banks.
2. This process forms an indurated type of limestone, a mineral which cements the mud and sand together.
3. 'Concrete' such as these have been found in use deposited by the sea on the North Norfolk coast in the last 40 to 50 years.

Magic in the marsh

The salt marshes at Walsingham on the North Norfolk coast

“Without any regard to the laws of geology, mud on the marsh is hardening into stone in a few years rather than the thousands it usually takes. ...

Professor Coleman said the rock was forming faster than anybody had ever believed possible, with one stone creating itself in just six months. ... They often contain beautifully preserved fossils, where the detail of the soft flesh of the creature is caught as well as the bone, as it had no time to rot before the rock formed around it.”

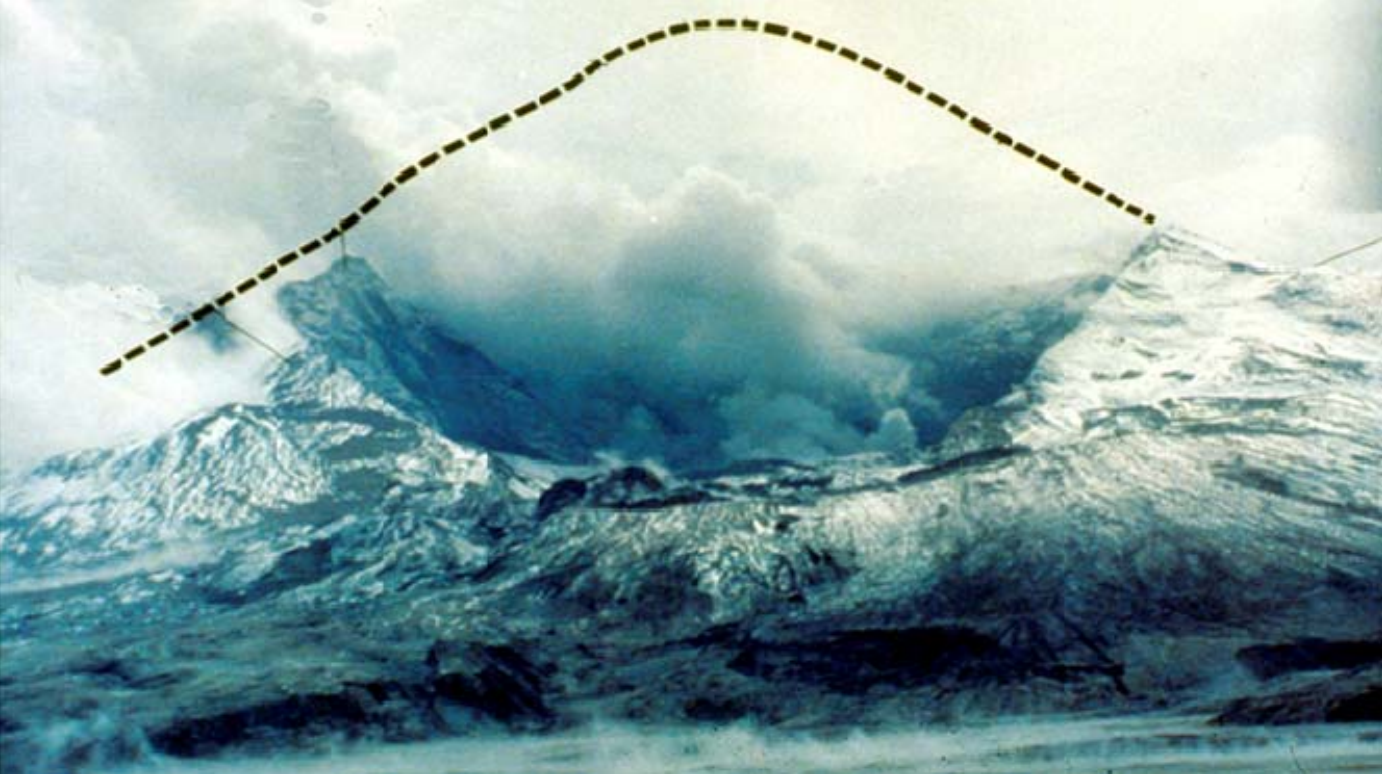

A wide, turbulent river flows through a spillway. The water is a muddy brown color and is characterized by white, frothy rapids and large waves. In the background, a dense line of green trees marks the far bank under a clear, pale blue sky. The overall scene conveys a sense of powerful, high-volume water movement.

The Bird Feather

It Couldn't Just Happen!

For their weight, feathers are stronger than any man-made structures. The design & functions of a feather are even more astounding.

Evolutionists claim that reptile scales evolved into feathers. Feathers have a much more complex DNA structure than reptile scales.

There is virtually no similarity between the two nor is there any fossil evidence showing the transition from scale to feather. So how can evolutionists claim this really happened?
