CONCLUSIONS

- Global warming has been occurring over the last 30-50 years.
- This warming may only be a short-term fluctuation.
- However, it could be a longer-term trend.
- Evidence is still inconclusive that the recent changes are anthropogenic.
- No “natural” causes for recent warming other than random climatic fluctuations have been confirmed.
- A new theory that galactic cosmic radiation modulated by solar activity affects low-level cloud cover and global warming should be explored.

The Hummingbird

A Marvel of Creativity!

The ruby-throated hummingbird is one of the most fascinating creatures of all creation. No other bird can fly forward, backward, upside-down and straight up like a helicopter.

Gram for gram, the hummingbird has the greatest energy output of any warm-blooded animal. Conserving it's energy, it can travel 500 miles nonstop over the gulf waters to Mexico.

Is the hummingbird a product of random chance processes or the creation of a grand designer?
